Caregivers shall provide frequent, direct contact so children are not left unobserved on the premises.

CONCLUSION SUMMARY

SSCR has determined the allegation to be substantiated. A four year old child was left outside unattended on the playground for one minute and 42 seconds. Five staff were interviewed. All the staff witnessed part of the incident or reviewed the incident on video. The staff in the room did the name to face count as the children were coming inside from the playground. The staff call the child's name, look for the child and then mark the child off on the iPad. Somehow the four year old was marked as coming inside when he was still outside. The staff also did a threshold count at the door as they were coming inside. The count was also done incorrectly. The staff never noticed the child was not in the classroom. After being left outside unattended, the child then came back into the classroom.
